As I perused all of the productions and projects of L/L Research for this past year I felt tears of gratitude welling up within my being. I asked myself, “How could we be so fortunate to be able to share the love and the light of the One, who is in all, with all of our readers and supporters?” It is a blessing that is beyond my comprehension, but I do know that we owe such great gratitude to our family of volunteers which is scattered all around our Mother Earth. Surely She too must be proud of this gathering of loving souls that includes so many, many readers of the Law of One, both new and old, who continue to support L/L Research with their love, their time, and their donations. If it were not for all of these shining souls L/L Research would have no being, no place, no calling on our dear Gaia. Thank you all, from the very bottom of our hearts, for sharing your love with us. As Carla would say, “Right back at ya!” I now turn it over to Gary and Austin. – Jim McCarty

The Ra Contact!

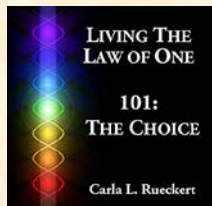

The biggest of our big news came your way two months ago: The Ra Contact: Teaching the Law of One was born! Available as a free PDF, printed book, and Kindle, feedback from the readership has been overwhelmingly positive. We are presently working with volunteers on multiple fronts including producing a companion book of study materials we’re provisionally calling Resources, making the original audio of the Ra contact sessions with the text integrated available on YouTube, and publishing an audiobook narrated by Jim McCarty. If we’re lucky we’ll see both by year’s end. Stay tuned.

New Publications

Since issuing the previous Gatherings Newsletter in May, 2017, L/L Research has channeled, written, produced, and/or published the following bunches of stuff:

Living the Law of One 101 Audiobook

Last September L/L published its first-ever audiobook! Narrated by Jim, Living the Law of One 101: The Choice was Carla's last great work. It was her attempt to create an entry-level report concerning the core principles of the Law of One and Confederation philosophy. It seems to have found a receptive home with the readership, having become L/L's most popular title after The Ra Contact books.

You can purchase the audiobook through Audible.com here.

Q'uo Channelings

The Transcript Library, begun in 1974, is now in its 44th year. (There are technically three transcripts before 1974, but '74 is the year that Carla learned to channel, that Don began preserving the recordings, and that the library really takes off.) Thanks to dedicated meditation attendees and two co-channels, it has grown by another two years: 2017 and 2018. Just 56 years away from 100. :-)

A Gift to Jim: "Through Book & Memory"

L/L Research has a home library of about 5,000 books. The collection began with Don and Carla's books and has continued growing since then, each person contributing along the way. This simple video, "Through Book & Memory", highlights some of that library along with photos. It is a gift to Jim. The beautiful song you hear is called "The Wanderers" by the Lacy J. Dalton. Carla and Jim loved the song. We've used it on many an occasion for tuning the circle before meditation and channeling.

Translated Books

Translation continues to accelerate each year thanks to the hard, diligent work of the most devoted, and, shall we say, awesome translators. Among the highlights, The Law of One or The Ra Contact made their debuts in Czech, Italian, and Bulgarian this year! Translated books—some finished, some still in progress—published to the website since the last newsletter include:

- French Law of One: Book V thanks to Mischa Deschreider and Jochen Blumenthal
- German Law of One Book V thanks to Jochen Blumenthal
- Czech Law of One: Book I thanks to the Czech translation team of Vojtech Schlesinger, Roman Vodacek, Bara Doslikova, Radm Dvorak
- German Living the Law of One 101 thanks to Jochen Blumenthal
- Chinese Living the Law of One 101 thanks to the Light Center of Taiwan
- Italian Law of One: Book 1 thanks to Gianluca Mosaico
- Bulgarian Ra Contact: Volume 1 thanks to Kirilina Minceva.
- Polish A Wanderer's Handbook thanks to Loka Publishing
- Chinese Ra Contact: Volumes 1 & 2 thanks to Terry Hsu and Sean Hsu

And these books are now available for purchase thanks to the efforts of foreign publishers:

- Japanese Law of One Book II thanks to Natural Spirit
- Chinese A Wanderer's Handbook thanks to 1 Center

Translated Transcripts

Translations of the L/L Research Transcript Library continue apace thanks to the generous efforts of translators working in their native or learned languages, including:

- Spanish thanks to Manuel Abasolo
- Russian thanks to Anastasia V., Anton Yevdokymov, and Nikolai Glinkin.
- Bulgarian thanks to Kirilina Minceva
- French thanks to Nicolas Turban, Misha Deschreider, and Jochen Blumenthal
- Italian thanks to Gianluca Mosaico and Inla the Beauty of the Mediterranean
- German thanks to Jochen Blumenthal and Tobias G.
- Italian thanks to Fabio Gatti and Gianluca Mosaico
- Polish thanks to Adam R.

Events & Activities

Homecoming Gathering September, 2017

Last year's Homecoming was a first in many respects: first time everyone wore pants and long sleeves for part of it. (Harvey brought literally over 24 hours of uninterrupted rain and cold.) First time we faced standing water in the tent. First time we expanded the tent from 30x30 to 40x40. First time we had to close registration in advance of the event—in this case just a week after opening. First time a big wait list accrued as a result. First to use floor seating with meditation cushions. First to finally upgrade from a little monitor perched on top of two boxes to a flat screen TV for visual presentations. First time the “clitoris” was mentioned in the circle—the gift of our friend, Suzanna Miller, who spoke brilliantly via Skype about ecstatic sexual energy. First time a skit was performed. First time group exercises were built into the schedule (thanks to what Gary and Austin and picked up at Eisenstein’s “Space Between Stories” workshop at the Omega Institute). They were a raging success. First time the circle convened in advance of the morning presentations to do a quick and fun check-in. First to use our system of burlap curtains. First where a dedicated kitchen crew took care of nearly all the food prep and breakdown (thank the Gods for Trisha Bean, and for Tasha, Jeremy’s wife, who became her companion). And first time Asheville, NC, was in attendance!

But however many firsts, or seconds, or one hundredths, it was a very, very beautiful experience. One where we connected freely in the heart and found the magic that exists always between us. One where we felt family. During Gary’s presentation he asked how many people feel that a new world is being born? All hands rose. How many want to see a new world? All hands rose. How many feel that they are here at this time to assist with and participate in that birth? Again, all hands.

In pockets all around the world it is happening.

Coming Home Gathering July, 2018

As mentioned, last year’s Homecoming was the first time that demand for seats exceeded supply. A wait list of 16 people formed. We felt the growing pains and determined that a second annual event was needed. Enter our heroes: The Asheville Law of One Study Group, specifically in this case Aaron, BJ, Ionsul, Jana, Matt, and Zak. They were like What are you doing this summer? And we were like You know, just hangin’ out. You? And they said LETS HAVE AN EVENT IN ASHEVILLE! We smiled, thought for .5 seconds, and said Where have you been our whole lives?

So we embarked upon our L/L’s first collaboration! And from the first moment to the last the shared work was joyful, seamless, and perfect. Everything came together like it was pre-incarnationally planned. So much of this efficiency was due to the fact that the venue we rented, Highland Lake Cove, was also run by members of the Asheville Law of One Study Group, the spectacular Amsellem family. Highland Lake was absolutely gorgeous. Lakes and lily pads, herons and goats, gravel roads and camping, cottages and “glamping cabins,” gardens, a sanctuary, a dining hall with vegan offerings, a place for fire and drum circles and communing in a sylvan setting of spiritual sustenance.

The circle was 44 strong and, as with Homecoming, each brought their own contribution, but, unlike Homecoming, the Asheville group used Open Space Technology. This yielded multiple offerings at the same time so that attendees could participate in that which most called them at any given point in the schedule. There was so much good love, and good food, it was shall we say a perfect venue for making cosmic connections and discovering ourselves in each other on the road under the starry sky.

When Teams Asheville and Louisville asked themselves “Should we do this next year?” The collective answer was an immediate “What kind of dumb question is that which we ask ourselves?” In other words, look for the Coming Home Gathering 2019! And ’20, ’21, ’22, ’23—till fourth density.

The Space Between Stories Workshop

Thanks to the co-sponsorship of Beatriz Gonzales and Jim McCarty, Gary and Austin had the opportunity to spend a week at the “Space Between Stories” workshop led by Charles Eisenstein at the Omega Institute in July, 2017. It was an extraordinary experience that was magical not in the generic sense of being special, but magical in the sense of being utterly magical. Other terms includes transformative, beautiful, and heart-opening.

Among its consequences, the experience helped to open their hearts more fully to the ongoing birth of fourth density. Gary’s long-winded account of that journey is available here.

Kinnection Campout

Among the transformation festivals happening around the world is a small but potent one named Kinnection Campout. Lead of the Asheville study group, Aaron Maret, had given a presentation on the Law of One at a previous Kinnection event and this year decided to torture Gary by inviting him to join as a co-presenter on an introduction to the Law of One. It was nerve-wracking for G. as one, public speaking, and two, it was the first time he spoke to people not already familiar with the material. Neither of which are strong points for him. But Aaron is gifted in articulation and presence, and we made it through without receiving tomatoes thrown at us from the small group gathered to hear. Transcript available on the website soon. The most fun aspect (you may be noticing a pattern here) was hanging with the Asheville crew in an outdoor setting in rural Tennessee experiencing small tastes and glimpses of an emerging new evolutionary density.

Upcoming Projects & Publications

As mentioned in the beginning, three big projects currently in the oven include creating the Resources book, the Ra YouTube project, and the audiobook for The Ra Contact. If you would like to lend your talent to either, please drop us a line! We will also be producing a single-volume edition of The Ra Contact, along with working on:

Audiobooks

Since Carla’s passing, Jim has recorded professional quality audiobooks of the entire L/L Research library. We will be publishing these books over the course of the next few years. If you’d like to chip in to expedite this molasses-speed process, please, by all means.

New Website

You who have been following L/L Research will be aware that for over five years now we’ve had a plan for, and have struggled with, manifesting a new super website. We are going to make a concerted effort this summer to reboot that project as it is key to bringing L/L Research into a 2.0 level of service. (Or 3.0, 4.0 . . . we don’t have a rulebook.) Among our hopes for the new website is to make the vast and rich transcript library more accessible, sortable, searchable, and interactive.

Channeling Circles

Over the past couple of years, Jim and his fellow co-channel taught a series of Channeling Intensives designed to teach a new generation to learn to channel. The intensives have completed and now we hold a monthly practice channeling circle for Austin, Julie, Jeremy, Trish, and Gary.

The Unnamed Project

L/L recently received a magnitude of order of generosity that still seems incomprehensible. We and the Board have been working on this project with the hopes of making an announcement in the coming months. Stay tuned!

Ongoing Services

Public Meditations

This was the third season since Carla's transition for L/L Research to host public meditations. We again met from September through May with the first and third Saturdays being devoted to channeling and the second and fourth Saturdays focused on silent meditations. We had as few as three people attend and as many as fifteen. But no matter the size of the group, we always enjoyed a lively round-robin discussion at the beginning of each meeting in which each person got a chance to share significant experiences that were aiding their spiritual growth. These discussions continued after the meditations as well and were always fueled by Trish's home-baked treats. As always, we will take June, July, and August off and begin our public meditations again on the first Saturday after our Labor Day Homecoming Gathering.

In the Now Podcast

We continue our bi-weekly podcast, where Jim, Gary, and Austin gather to discuss topics and questions sent in from seekers, usually about the Law of One or Confederation philosophy. It is an honor and a challenge to offer this service, as preparation and discussion typically send us on our own quests for insight. As of July, 2018, we have 75 episodes available on our podcast page.

IMU – International Metaphysical University

Available through the International Metaphysical University (IMU), Jim McCarty offers the open enrollment class: "Basic Principles of the Law of One." The class was designed by Carla as a means to help students understand the Law of One using her book Living the Law of One 101 as a textbook.

Carla found the principles of this philosophy to be very helpful in her own life, and Jim enjoys helping students through the course.

This class can be accessed at International Metaphysical University's course catalog page here. This page also includes an introduction video to the class.

Camelot Journal

Jim has continued to carry on the tradition, begun by Carla back in June of 2005, of writing a Camelot Journal entry each day to give L/L readers an idea of what we do at L/L Research on a daily basis. Since Carla's transition two years ago Jim has added the feature of commenting on L/L books that Carla either wrote or channeled. Since December of 2015 he has focused the first part of the journal entry on commenting on the questions and answers from the 106 Ra sessions. Then he shares his activity of the day, which is usually gardening work outside. Then he inserts Gary and Austin's "Blogworthy Report" where they list their day's work for L/L. That always lengthy list is followed by the thought for the day from A Book of Days: Channelings from the Holy Spirit which was channeled by Carla in the late '80s. Since the election last fall he has ended the journal entry with the prayer from the nightly Gaia Meditation where love and light are sent to all souls on Earth who are in need of it.

Social Media

Facebook www.facebook.com/llresearch

Each day we share a couple gems of thoughts from the Confederation. Finding these gems does not require considerable digging, as the Confederation has been generous with them over the years. One cannot open a transcript or a page without stumbling over riches sufficient for a lifetime. Though we do often use Gary's topically organized research.

Twitter https://twitter.com/ll_research

The other platform, Twitter, is manned by our dear friend Jeremy Weiland who somehow finds a way to distill Confederation's lengthy prose to Twitter's 140 character limit. Much of Jeremy's sharing this year happens from his study of the transcript library, currently in the 1970s. He has set upon a quest few have undertaken: to read the entire thing from '74 onward.

Instagram https://www.instagram.com/the_law_of_one/

Then there is Lanny DeBoer who, through some magic we do not understand, has built an Instagram page with almost 136 thousand likes. (Yes, "thousand" with a "t.") He finds or creates evocative images and associates with them a quote from Ra or others in the Confederation. He approaches almost one thousand posts.

Replying to Seeker Email

Among all of the functions and services we provide, responding to seekers who write to us is one of the longest running and most rewarding. We are constantly honored to be the recipients of amazing and insightful emails—ranging from seekers sharing the details of their own spiritual journey, to requests for guidance or help in understanding the material that we share, to simple notes of gratitude and explanations of how the Law of One and the Confederation messages have transformed lives. We do our very best to ensure that no message or email goes unanswered. It is a truly moving and joyous task.

Prison Ministry

Another long-running service we provide is our Prison Ministry, through which we coordinate correspondence between volunteers and incarcerated seekers, as well as fulfill requests for free books from those seekers. Last year we reorganized and revamped the program, bringing on three additional volunteers to help with correspondence and relaying book requests. Thanks to Nick, Lily, and Sam, the Prison Ministry program is growing in volume and vibrancy.

Forums

Decades ago, Don Elkins had a vision for a spiritual community based around the Law of One. While such a community has not found manifestation in the typical sense, our online community, Bring4th.org, continues to serve as an online forum of study and kinship for seekers and wanderers who find themselves resonating with the Law of One and other Confederation messages. Many thanks to Jade and Garry for offering their incredible service as moderators (an often-challenging task) for this community.

Satellite Stations

Over five years ago in Dec, 2012, we had the pleasure of meeting the industrious and indefatigable Jochen Blumenthal. Thanks to his efforts we were able to pioneer L/L Research's first satellite station built upon harmony, mutual trust, and shared desire to serve. In this arrangement, the satellite is granted full license to translate and publish virtually all L/L Research material into their native language. By 2014, the first official satellite was born in the German language. Within a couple of years Jochen teamed up with the endlessly talented Misha Deschreider, who had already translated much of our material into French, to add French to the satellite station. You can visit the German website and the French website in those links.

Attending last year's Homecoming Gathering was one Vojtěch Schlesinger, head of a small band of Czech seekers who have been busy translating Confederation material. Representing his group, Vojtech signed a Czech-Language Agreement, making his group the second official satellite station! Vojtech, our old good friend Roman Vodacek, Radm Dvorak, and Bara Doslikova have been such a joy to work with.

In fact, we are seeing that translators around the world are beginning to work in teams, from Czech, German, French, Russian (maybe), Chinese, and Italian. And speaking of Italian, the great Gianluca Mosaico is on the cusp of officially forming the third satellite station with L/L Research in that language.

Notes from Elsewhere in the L/L Universe

Czech Translation Team, by Vojtech Schlesinger

Forming our Czech translator group was magical. I have some skills—better to call them gifts—that I am efficient in, but skills and qualities that I am missing and are vital to this project are existing in others. So I first connected with Roman, a close friend of L/L who had returned to his birth country of the Czech Republic after many years living in Louisville. But the two of us alone could not translate a book in under two years, so I issued a call for help both in the mental realm and in the physical realm of the website. Magically, the help came. Bara and Radim, two of the four-person translator team, wanted to contribute. And they had exactly the gifts needed. We four collaborated and finished the translation of the first book of the Law of One on the professional level but also on the human level at our meetings.

We have about 10 meetings per year, and we had our first big gathering weekend recently and it was a huge blast for us. We are thinking about opening this event for other seekers in the Czech Republic so if you are somehow interested you can get in touch on our website www.zakonjednoty.cz. On our meetings, we primarily discuss Law of One and meditate.

The reason I am writing this is not really about us but about all people that are getting inspired by Law of One and also maybe feeling lonely and alone and not knowing where to start. You can reach out to your local group (look on the www.bring4th.org website or social media) or start your own. There are a lot of people interested either in philosophy or meditation so it could be a nice starting point for people not feeling funky advertising some "Alien Space Confederation" too soon.

Somehow although in our team we are all mainly introverts we enjoy each other company because we have very similar values and desire to seek the love in every moment. We can discuss more deeply our beliefs knowing that we can share our true selves uncensored.

The hardest thing was making a commitment to go out of my little box with trusting the guidance that I can do it. When I finally did the commit it went so smoothly on the way that in every step I felt comfortable and surrounded with help and love proving that I am truly not alone and that I do not need to worry. — Vojtech Schlesinger

Asheville Law of One Study Group, by Aaron Maret

The Asheville Law of One Study Group just completed its two-year anniversary of regular weekly gatherings. By choosing a format for our meetings that combines deep personal check-ins with session-by-session study of the material, the group has built a strong sense of “cosmic but cozy” community among the 20+ regular attendees, and has encouraged an embodied understanding of the material. Their study is now proceeding into the portion of the Ra Contact that covers the Archetypical Mind.

Collaborations and a growing friendship between several of the core members of the Asheville group and the L/L Research team are building a bridge of love and light between Louisville and Asheville. One of the most exciting manifestations of this connection is the first jointly organized event – “Coming Home to the New Earth” – exploring 4D ways of being and doing through both study and practice, in the format of a 3-day participant-led Open Space gathering. — Aaron Maret

Taiwan law of One Study Groups, by Terry Hsu

In Taiwan, we have a Law of One study group in Taipei and a L/L material study group in Taichung. In Taipei, we gather twice per month mostly. Our current progress is the beginning of Session 73. We look forward to dive into the profound yet fun discussion on the Archetype System (aka. Egyptian Tarot).

In Taichung, we gather once per month. On that day, we'll discuss the Seth material in the morn. And, after a short break, continue to discuss the L/L material (Q'uo, mostly). We haven't followed the chronicle order thus far, just pick up some channeled material that we feel resonated.

So, it's kinda hard to pinpoint the linear progress. However, as far as i can tell, most members do enjoy the L/L material besides the Seth material :-)

Talks with Scott Mandelker

Gary: For almost five consecutive years now, Scott Mandelker has been steadily offering a unique service to the Law of One readership. He has been reading word-for-word every session of the Law of One from the Relistened Version, including Carla and Jim's commentary of Book V, pausing between Q&As or concepts in order to offer his own commentary. Thanks to Garry Fung, I finally turned my attention to a session and really dug it.

It's not that I agree with every point of interpretation. For instance, the machinations of the negative polarity on Earth have a different emphasis in his work than ours. And there is a lot of subject, personal takes. But it is nonetheless a brilliant exercise. He is like a jazz musician riffing at indeterminate lengths on each Q&A, sometimes meandering far from the original Q&A but always returning to the material.

I sent Scott a note of gratitude for great work and he was kind enough to reply. He indicated that there indeed is an improvisational aspect to the work. But, I would add here, it is grounded in and informed by many years of study and personal discipline, some of those years spent in southeast Asian monasteries meditating for days on end, some of those years spent in academia. Thanks to his background, Scott is able to make a unique and outstanding synthesis of Eastern teaching and the Law of One. And as any serious student will know, viewing the Law of One through different lenses, whether Zen Buddhism, Christian theology, white magical practice, linguistics, science, or mysticism—each lens offers new insight.

I've written a lot about the Law of One myself over the years. I have attempted to communicate it through writing and speaking. It is never easy, especially when speaking. I've learned that any attempt to convey so infinite and inclusive a philosophy from the human perspective, a philosophy that extends light years beyond our realm of shadows, is a daunting if not at times impossible task. To see it done so well from a perspective mostly congruent with but different than Carla, Jim, Austin, myself, or others of the L/L wavelength, is a real joy. Scott has been consistently teaching the material through his own lens year after year, decade after decade.

You can find the sessions at his blogspot, youtube, or listen to them as I do on the Podcast Republic app available on Android.

The Gatherings Newsletter is written and performed by Gary Bean, Austin Bridges, and Jim McCarty. No discarnate beings were harmed in the production of this newsletter.

Other Law of One Study Groups

The following a list of study groups forming or already formed around the world along with their contact information. Feel free to join them in study if you find yourself in their neck of the woods!

If you would like to see your group added to or removed from this list, please let us know.

Asheville Law of One Study Group (ALoOSG)

Location: Asheville, North Carolina

Facilitator & Contact: Aaron Maret amaret@gmail.com

Our primary focus is hosting a weekly study group, balanced between building group coherence through personal sharing, and discussing the sessions from the Law of One. We also organize informal social events such as potlucks and film screenings. And we are experimenting with practice groups that support living the Law of One and consciously supporting a peaceful transition to fourth density.

The Bring4th Chatroom Meditation (weekly)

Gathering Point: Cyberspace/Chatroom

Contact: This forum thread is updated weekly

(<http://www.bring4th.org/forums/showthread.php?tid=12087>) or you can email Garry Fung (ggwfung@gmail.com) for further details and co-ordination.

We have been conducting a weekly meditation for over a year and a half now. A different topic is chosen each week, usually with a starting point in the Law of One material. Interested seekers gather in a chatroom on the Bring4th Website at 10am, eastern standard time, each Saturday. Because of time zone differences around the globe, we can help you determine what that time is, for your local area. There is a core group of 4 members who are steadfastly present each week, so you can count on being in good company!

Dallas Area Friends of the Law of One

Location: Irving, TX

When: Third Wednesday of each month

Facilitator & Contact: Troy & Gwen tryoypa@yahoo.com

"We, Friends of the Law of One, allow ourselves to explore how the flow of the Spirit moves us as we continually open up to the mystery of the unity of all things. When two or more are gathered, the mystery opens up even more. FLOO is a safe oasis where that opening, exploring, questioning, and finding can happen. And it happens in the context of friendship."

Front Range Colorado Law of One Study

Location: Colorado Springs, CO

Facilitator & Contact: Jade Norby, mataaou@gmail.com, 719-425-6882

Facebook group: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/1741641539485682/>

Bring4th.org discussion thread: <https://www.bring4th.org/forums/showthread.php?tid=15189>

"Brief description of group activities: We plan to meet bi-monthly on Sunday evenings (every other Sunday) to discuss and study the text of the Law of One and potentially other channelings from L/L Research. We will also engage in group meditation at the start of each meeting."

The Memphis Law of One Study Group – local and Google Hangout

Location: Prema Healing Meditation. 5658 S. Rex Rd, Memphis, TN 38119

Facilitator & Contact: Dean Graves deanhalf@gmail.com (901) 308-4599

"We meet every Friday evening (holidays excepted) from 7:00 to 8:30 CST. The group is relatively small but cohesive which allows for an intimacy and specificity in questioning and answers. The meeting format varies according to the needs of the participants with some longer participating attendees having a greater understanding than newer ones but our objective is to make the material as understandable as possible. New seekers are always welcome and encouraged to question everything they may have concerns about or don't understand. We welcome your addition to our group."

L/L Research Law of One Study Group

Louisville, KY

Led by Jim McCarty, Gary Bean, & Austin Bridges

contact@llresearch.org

Public meditations will be held every first, second, third, and fourth Saturday from September through May. All are welcome!

Taichung LL Study Group

Location: The Seth Foundation, Headquarter

Facilitator: Terry Hsu

Contact: Telephone/FAX: (04)22364612

We have been gathering once per month since 2007. We just finished a round of studying the Law of One books. Currently, as of Jul 2018, we have been studying the L/L Library monthly.

Taipei LOO Study Group

Location: 1F., No.4, Ln. 79, Jingren St., Wenshan Dist., Taipei City 116, Taiwan (R.O.C.)

Facilitator: Terry Hsu

The Law of One books are the main focus of our study. Currently, as of Jul 2018, our progress is in the middle of Session 73. We gather regularly, twice per month.

“We have been gathering monthly since 2007. Our mission is to support each other with the energy of love, compassion, respect; support the spiritual evolution of humankind in service of the One Infinite Creator; and share-teach-Learn the Law of One in self-reflection.

We read from the Law of One, hold group meditations, share stories, and focus on healing and manifestation. We ask all seekers interested in attending to have read at least one of the Law of One books. ”
